

A wide-angle photograph of a discus throw competition in a park. In the center, a male athlete in a dark blue shirt and light blue pants is in the middle of a discus throw, with his right arm extended forward and his left leg lifted. To his left, several spectators and officials in casual clothing are watching from the side of a paved throwing circle. In the background, there's a dense forest of tall trees with autumn-colored leaves (yellow, orange, and red). A street lamp stands on the left side of the frame. The sky is overcast.
